Import Promotion Desk – your partner for sustainable business relations

The COVID-19 crisis has critically impacted the international tourism industry, but has also helped to realize that a future exists in sustainable travel. IPD mediates European tour operators to incoming agencies who really care about sustainable tourism.

We connect you with selected companies from Ecuador, a destination with high touristic potential, full of nature and adventure. Between volcanic mountain landscapes, vast sandy beaches, the original Amazon rainforest and its indigenous communities, the enchanted city of Cuenca, and the famous Galapagos Islands – Ecuador has a large variety of sustainable tourism attractions.

Wedged between the Himalayas and the vast plains of India, Nepal is a land of intoxicating natural beauty and spirituality that has lots to offer for tourists looking for sustainable tourism products: From hiking in the most iconic mountainous region in the world or strolling through the ancient districts of Kathmandu to spotting tigers and Indian elephants in the southern national parks.

Tunisia has many surprising tourist attractions and activities. Those that venture off Tunisia's sandy Mediterranean coastline can discover: Saharan dunes surrounding oasis retreats or expansive networks of ancient ruins and charming Berber villages. Tunisia is also a country with some of the region's most beautiful examples of Islamic architecture.

Uzbekistan is a hidden destination for travellers interested in adventure, history and architecture. The Fergana Valley (famous for its silk production in the Nuratau and handicraft), the capital Tashkent and the old cities of Samarkand, Bukhara, legendary Nukus and community home stays in Nuratau mountains are a few stops to explore the Silk Road. In addition, all the way out west, between desert fortresses, high class museums and ruin cities, Uzbekistan offers various cultural highlights.

Every partner company is carefully screened by the IPD team and trained in the requirements of the EU travel market. On the following pages you will find detailed information about these recommended tourism businesses.

IPD establishes direct contact with them and organises B2B meetings – virtually and face to face.

Trek Ecuador & Kapawi Ecolodge

Since 2005, Trek Ecuador designs travel experiences in Ecuador that connect travellers with the Amazon Rainforest and the indigenous communities living there. The tailor-made journeys are an immersive lifetime-experience and create real sustainable benefit for the local community along the whole value chain. According to the same concept, Trek Ecuador offers cultural experiences in other destinations within Ecuador, for example the Andes.

Kapawi Eco-Lodge is an award-winning community ecotourism enterprise, which is fully owned and operated by the indigenous Achuar community. Deep in the Amazon Rainforest, Kapawi Eco-Lodge is a retreat for natural and cultural immersion, which directly supports the sustainable development of the indigenous community in a social, economic and ecological way. Activities in the unspoilt surrounding nature and with the community, wellness, yoga and meditation await the guests.

Community Homestay Network

The Community Homestay Network is the only network of community based tourism experiences throughout Nepal that benefits the local population directly. They connect travellers with communities across Nepal, providing a unique opportunity to stay with Nepali families and immerse in real Nepali life. From the beginning, they have focused on the ethical values of ecotourism, women empowerment and the participation of women and local societies in community development.

Travellers can stay in an authentic Nepali home in one of their 20+ communities, experience the locality through the eyes of locals and make meaningful memories. They can select from over 50 local community experiences such as village hikes, bike tours, visit to an organic coffee farm, food experiences, cultural dances, painting classes, bird watching, tea picking and many more.

The hosts are coached in homestay management, hospitality, English and the interaction with their guests from around the globe to exchange their ideas, let them immerse into the local culture and create unforgettable memories.

Explore Evenmore Tours & Travels

Explore Evenmore Tours & Travels, based in Pokhara, is an expert in organizing meaningful tours in Nepal since 2013. The socially responsible tour operator is specialized in the less touristic western part of Nepal, where they offer community-based homestay experiences of various ethnic groups, cultural and nature-based trips, adventure tours, yoga journeys and village hiking tours.

All tours of Explore Evenmore support local rural communities, preserve the environment and ensure that the host communities benefit from tourism, while guests can enjoy different types of local and authentic experiences. Therefore, they have developed community-based tourism projects by partnering with "Sharing Seeds" and the French NGO Les Enfants De Kavresthali.

Explore Evenmore Tours & Travels has a long-time experience with customers from the European, US and Australian market and therefore a good understanding of the specific travel requirements.

Sasane Sisterhood Trekking & Travel

SASANE

Sasane Sisterhood Trekking & Travel was founded in 2016 with the main objective to reintegrate female human trafficking survivors back in the society. They train female human trafficking survivors in the hospitality sector as competent trekking and tour guides, cooks, housemaids, etc. Their unique tours lead through rural mountain villages of Nepal where guests can experience their traditional way of life. This innovative approach helps to reduce and ultimately eliminate further trafficking, gender-based violence and child marriage in those communities through the power of responsible tourism. Sasane Sisterhood offers homestay accommodations, cooking classes as well as day and overnight hikes in and around Kathmandu and Pokhara. Travellers who participate in these treks experience lesser-travelled areas of Nepal while being immersed in the traditional culture and customs of the rural Nepal villages as well as contributing to the development of those villages.
