Duvale Fruits

Brazil

Duvale Fruits, originating from a family farm in the São Francisco Valley, became a company in 2019 with a mission oriented towards quality. Specializing in cultivating and growing a variety of high-quality mangoes, the company carries out sustainable practices and implements food safety measures. Having successfully practiced indirect exports to Europe and the US since its foundation, the company now aims for direct business relationships with global customers, assuring stringent international standards.

This transformation symbolizes dedication to excellence in the entire supply chain, product- and service-delivery. Modest in size, Duvale Fruits differentiates itself in quality and reliability, cultivating more than mangoes: trust and satisfaction in every business interaction.

In 2016, the GMC Group acquired land in Juazeiro, Bahia, transforming it into Fazenda Calabaço, known for its mango production. Starting with a few dozen hectares, it expanded to over 100 hectares dedicated to mango cultivation.

The family-run management modernized processes and implemented sustainable techniques. The farm employs over one hundred local workers, producing high-quality, sweet, and juicy mangoes that have gained international recognition.

The story highlights the success of family entrepreneurship and the transformation of a small farm into a thriving business, bringing prosperity to the local community. Calabaço's produce reaches European markets via exporters and has an excellent track record. Now the company seeks to explore export markets directly.

Nova Alimentos

🌱 Product available in organic quality

Ecuador

Nestled in Ecuador's Highlands, Nova leverages its geographical advantage, cultivating Broccoli throughout the year. It is the only origin capable of planting, growing, and harvesting every week of the year. Positioned at 2,700 to 3,100 meters, the fields benefit from direct sunlight, yielding Broccoli with distinctive advantages: intense color, a slightly sweeter taste, and a crispier texture.

The high altitude, combined with a meticulous agricultural protocol, constant monitoring, and a full-time trained staff, ensures consistent high-quality produce. Full traceability tracks the journey from the fields to shipment. For more than 16 years, Nova Alimentos has been exporting premium broccoli to many markets around the world.
